

At Justin's, we're crafting delicious, real food products made with high-quality, mindfully-sourced ingredients that contribute to our world in a positive and meaningful way.

As a well-respected industry pioneer since 2004 and category-leading brand, we offer an extensive line of naturally delicious nut butters and organic chocolate treats, all of which are Non-GMO Project Verified. We are also highly invested in corporate social responsibility, focusing on sustainable packaging and ingredients, pollinator conservation, and hunger relief, all with the aim of making the world a more resilient, well-fed place.

It all started with a food processor in Justin Gold's kitchen, where he used the best ingredients he could get his hands on to create something that was just right for fueling his active lifestyle. He moved on to the Boulder farmers' market, where his delicious creations were well received. Although we've grown a lot since then, the craft, care and passion still remain.

We're nuts about the simple joys in life and imagining new possibilities, whether that be bringing the first nut butter filled squeeze pack to market, introducing the first certified organic peanut butter cups in 2-cup packs, or finding ways to reduce our impact on the planet by using less plastic in our jars.
